Paul Wehage

Four Sketches
for alto and baritone saxophone duo

Notes :

Four Sketches for Bb clarinet and bass clarinet is written in a contrapuntal, extended-tonal style and is in four movements. The first movement, Invention, uses canonic writing and imitative counterpoint. Walse Lente, is a slowly expressive waltz with the two instruments presenting the melody in the different sections. Berceuse begins as a soft cradlesong, but gradually the music becomes more expansive before returning to the first theme to end the movement quietly. The final Marche is a jaunty, stylized comic march in which the theme is passed between the two instruments. Passages involving "hocketing" underlined by articulation effects create rhythmic tension before the piece comes to a close.

Four Sketches pour clarinet et clarinette basse est composé dans un style contrepointal avec une vocabulaire harmonique tonale. Elle est en quatre mouvements. La première mouvement, Invention, utilise une écriture canonique et imitative. Walse Lente, est une mélodie expressive avec le chant qui passe entre les deux parties. Berceuse commence dans une manière typique du genre, mais peu à peu, les éléments plus expansives sont présentées. La pièce finit par un retour du thème berçant du début, pour finir calmement. La Marche finale est un pas-redoublé sans prétention et plutôt comique. La juxtaposition des motifs rythmiques soulignés par des effets d'articulation reviennent de plus en plus souvent pour créer une atmosphère de divertissement.
